from the
SUPERINTENDENT

It’s hard to believe that we have reached the mid-point in the school year.

We have experienced great success both inside and outside of the classroom. I am exceedingly proud of everyone’s efforts.

Educational Excellence is our hallmark and in that spirit we continue the development of our K-12 curriculum using the Next Generation Learning Standards as our guide. Our teachers and support staff are working with our administrative team to deepen their understanding of the requirements to determine what adjustments need to be made to ensure our compliance. As always, we will focus on making it our own and develop experiences for our students that are rigorous, interesting and prepare them to be college and career ready upon graduation. We are looking forward to the challenge and opportunities the new standards will bring.

Our music department continues to provide our students with excellent training and opportunities to perform. Our winter concert series was well attended and of professional quality. Several of our students have been recognized and invited to perform with county and State ensembles. Musical rehearsal for Wizard of Oz is in full swing and we are looking forward to another stellar performance this February.

Sports and extra-curricular programs are an important part of a student’s overall development. Our fall sports programs were highly successful with a number of teams and individual students qualifying for division, section, region and State competitions. Our girls’ cross country team won the State Team Championship, which is an extraordinary accomplishment. We honor them for their competitive spirit and devotion to being the best they can be. I also want to thank our sports booster clubs for their on-going support. They continue to provide opportunities for our students, beyond the scope of the District’s budget.

Our capital facilities project is concluding and has been a tremendous success. The project has allowed us to improve our learning spaces, athletic facilities and the safety and security of the District. Some highlights include:

PARKDALE
- Updated HVAC and air conditioning
- New auditorium lighting and sound system

Hello, East Aurora! My name is Chris Duff, and I am over-the-moon excited to be joining the EAUFSD in March as the new librarian at Parkdale Elementary. Originally from Grand Island, I moved to East Aurora in 2013 after marrying my wife, Kim. We now live on the outskirts of the village, in South Wales, so you can catch me at Tim Horton’s or Tops or just zipping around on my bicycle when the weather is warm. I also put in a few hours here and there at the Elma Public Library.

My pathway to this moment was by no means a straight line. I earned my undergraduate degree in English from Buffalo State in 2007 and found myself working in an office cubicle for the next seven years. I’m afraid I can’t say I was satisfied. My wife, an elementary teacher, introduced the idea that my love of books and rapport with children made a great combination for success as a school librarian. So I took the leap, left my job, went back to school and in 2017 graduated from UB with a master’s degree in library science.

Time really does fly. The seemingly short span from then to now has been filled with great people and experiences. Initially, I served as a substitute in the Pioneer district for a year and a half and since September of 2018 I’ve worked as the school librarian at Grover L. Priess Primary in Eden. I’ll miss my students and colleagues there, but I’m truly excited to join the educational team here in my home community of East Aurora. I’m a relative newcomer with a lot to learn, but I hope my energy and creativity help the library continue to thrive as a place where students become readers, thinkers, and explorers. And if you bump into me at Vidler’s or Valu, be sure to say hello!

Beginning in November, when the holidays start to make things a little crazy, Parkdale strives to embrace one of the most important messages we can communicate to our kids. It isn’t a concept found within the general curriculum standards. It is a component that should be an inherent part of our daily lives. It is the lesson of giving back. This philosophical outlook, with a broad scope, allows a multifaceted approach that impacts our students and faculty on a personal level. The 11th Annual Food Drive filled the Parkdale foyer with 10 barrels of food that was distributed to the Foodbank of WNY, filling local pantries that serve our community. Hearts for the Homeless, an organization in Buffalo, was seeking assistance in providing their clients with homemade cookies for the holidays. Students in Miss Silliman’s and Ms. Mooney’s first grade class took this moment to convert a math lesson into a cookie making extravaganza. With the baking assistance of our amazing cafeteria staff and the decorating expertise of Mrs. Bell’s first grade class, our students provided 25 dozen cookies to this organization. Once the word got out, the ripple effect began to take place. Suddenly, staff and community members were baking cookies with their families or friends and several additional dozens were made and donated. Down the hall in the second grade wing, they were making their own preparations in spreading holiday cheer. While celebrating the 12 Days of Kindness, the students and 2nd grade team of teachers collected several items that were given to local charities. These included hats and gloves for ROC, cereal for FISH, cookies for EA First Responders, paper towels for Pet Connection, cards for Active Duty Military and handmade placemats for Meals on Wheels. These are only a few of the remarkable events that took place throughout the winter season. Parkdale is a special place.
High School Spanish Students Visit 4th Grade
by Jessica Lyons

Day of the Dead, or Día de los Muertos, is a Mexican holiday held on November 1st and 2nd and is a celebration of life and death. In towns and cities throughout Latin America, revelers don funky makeup and costumes, hold parades and parties, sing and dance, and make offerings to lost loved ones. The EAHS Spanish 4 and AP Spanish students wanted to educate Parkdale’s fourth grade students on Day of the Dead celebrations and festivities through a series of educational workshops. Spanish students visited Parkdale on November 1st and set-up five different stations for 4th graders to rotate through. The first station taught students what the Day of the Dead actually is by viewing a video clip, reading a story about the holiday, the importance it has on family and concluding with a brief activity sheet. The second station provided students an opportunity to decorate their own sugar skulls with vibrant colors, jewels, sequins and feathers. Station three found high school students delivering a Day of the Dead Spanish lesson, introducing Spanish vocabulary words through a game of BINGO! Parkdale participants then received Day of the Dead prizes. Finally, students decorated their own Day of the Dead masks which they donned at the final photo booth station. In addition, students were able to taste Day of the Dead food (atole, a corn meal-hot chocolate and Pan de muerto, or bread of the dead) and learn what their Spanish name was. All stations were pre-planned, organized and conducted by high school Spanish students. Students from both Parkdale and EAHS thoroughly enjoyed this morning of fun activities and eagerly anticipate next year’s Day of the Dead celebration.

He will blow you away with his insights and tips on how the middle school aged brain works. Jack met with our faculty/staff in October and we are excited to have him return to EAUFSD to meet with parents. All community members/parents/employees are encouraged to attend. The targeted audience will be parents of students in or near grades 4-10. Don’t miss it!

EAMS Students and Science Teachers Partner with Buffalo Niagara Waterkeepers!

EAMS students and science teachers partnered with The Buffalo Niagara Waterkeepers to draw awareness to the overflow of storm drains that lead to Tannery Creek in East Aurora. Students helped paint signs near each storm drain and collected nearby trash. Buffalo Niagara Waterkeepers discussed the importance and advantages of using rain barrels to help protect local waterways and the Lake Erie watershed. In the spring, a rain barrel will be set-up that was donated to the middle school to help in these efforts.

5th Grade Students Deliver “for every little handprint”

In December, the entire fifth grade participated in a Book Drive to benefit the organization - For Every Little Handprint. It was founded by Olivia Larson, a Mount Mercy Academy senior who recently received the Outstanding Young Philanthropist Award for her philanthropic endeavors. Their mission is to foster a love for and commitment to learning, helping children in poverty preserve a sense of curiosity, creativity and discovery as they navigate life’s challenges and build exciting visions for their future. 1,800 gently used/or new books were donated and will be distributed in the New Year!

Latin Club Visits the Buffalo Zoo

Middle school Latin students studied the scientific naming of animals as well as the Latin animal names. In November they visited the Buffalo Zoo where they participated in a scavenger hunt designed to test their knowledge of both. The scavenger hunt provided descriptive clues and posed questions about the genus and species of specific animals. Students were challenged to identify the animals based on their knowledge of the scientific and Latin names learned in class. It was a cold and windy day, but we had fun nonetheless.
The Academic Learning Center has proven a tremendous resource for students and staff at the high school since its inauguration in the Spring of 2019. The purpose of the ALC is to provide an opportunity for students performing below grade level to receive assistance in the completion of work.

The ALC is available after school, Monday through Thursday, from 2:50 - 3:30 p.m. in the High School Library. Students may be assigned by their teachers if they are missing work, need additional assistance on assignments and projects, or simply need to complete a test or quiz due to an absence. Students can also drop-in on their own. One key attribute of the ALC is it is staffed by East Aurora high school teachers, ready and willing to help any student who walks through the door. For students in need of transportation after attending ALC, late bus transportation is provided at 3:35 p.m. (at the usual location near the flagpole).

Ultimately, students are responsible for completing work on time and to the best of their ability. If you would like more information about the High School’s Academic Learning Center, please contact the Guidance Center at (716) 687-2510 or visit the ALC website for more information at https://www.eastauroraschools.org/Page/7026.

January marks the time of year when many evaluate and establish goals for the new year ahead. A goal, as defined by Merriam-Webster Dictionary, is “the end toward which effort is directed”. A goal is our intended aim or design for an outcome. Setting goals helps us to take control and set the direction of our plans or purpose. Goals also help us to see our progress and guide refinement of our plan. Junior year of high school is an ideal time for students to set new goals and design a plan as they navigate college and career planning. Post-secondary planning is different for every student and family. Delving into it can seem daunting!

Being armed with information, doing research, and creating a plan can alleviate some of the anxiety around post-secondary planning. EAHS Counseling Center is excited about our enhanced programming of this process for students and parents! Our aim is to provide the tools and resources families need to navigate the road ahead. Students had an opportunity to participate in a small group presentations during exam week in January. Counselors provided an overview of the process of selecting and visiting colleges, standardized testing, college applications, financial aid, trades, military, and resources to aid in planning and research. Counselors will follow-up by meeting individually with students throughout February and March. This informative presentation will also be offered to parents on February 11th at 7:30 a.m. in the High School Library. Coffee and donuts will be provided!

It is never too late or too early to start exploring! You do not need to have everything figured out or know all the answers; you just need to be curious, set goals, make a plan, and act on that plan!
High School Latin Students Visit Parkdale

by Brian Serwicki

East Aurora JCL/Latin Club students visited Parkdale on Friday January 2nd and taught about the ancient Roman winter holiday of Saturnalia, from which many of our own winter traditions derive. High school students ran six stations: Alex Hillyard, Gates Andrews, and Brandon McIlvain led students through a “choose your adventure” story maze that taught about the traditions of Saturnalia; Annika Spencer, Jake Sigeti, Emma Dolan, Katie Chugh, Bridget Zagrobelny, and Evan Roden conducted a trivia game where teams of students competed to answer questions about mythology and Roman traditions; Jack Meyer, Dylan Fee, Thomas Karalus, Jack Misenheimer, and Jenna Smyczynski taught about Roman clothing styles and directed a relay race game with Roman tunicae; Isabelle Larson, Greta Armbrust, Romolla McDowell, Iris Roach, Marta Zolet, and Sarah Schoeneman taught about freedmen’s caps, or pilile which were worn during Saturnalia, and orchestrated a craft to make these hats; Thomas Roberts and Elizabeth Gunner read a story with questions about Orpheus and Eurydice; and Aubrey Roden, Alyssa Deveso, Madison Dziulko, Sara Larson, Margaret Apen, and Jessica Drozdowski taught about Roman Mosaics and led a craft on mosaic making. The second graders have been learning about Classical Mythology and did an amazing job at all stations; they were highly engaged and enthusiastic; we were so impressed with their wide range of knowledge as well as the fantastic way they conducted themselves and were involved in all of the leaning activities. Greatest thanks to the whole 2nd grade team and to Mrs. Lyons for their time, support and for giving us the opportunity to share our lessons with the Parkdale students. A huge thanks to Latin teacher Mrs. Kate Hannon for helping prepare several of the stations, chaperoning the trip, and conducting the activities and transitions during our visit.

These improvements help to create a modern, updated space to provide students and staff with a 21st century learning environment.

None of these accomplishments happened by chance. It takes all of us, students, teachers, support staff, administrators, parents, board of education members and community members, working together to create unique, specialized opportunities for our students. I am very grateful for the incredible community support we have received over the past several years. Though our financial position has certainly improved, we are not yet out of the woods. As we approach the budget vote in May, I encourage you to continue to stay informed and attend our budget work sessions. Your on-going support is greatly appreciated and will help to secure the future success of the District.

Liza Schaffer received $2,100 to purchase three cellos for the growing Parkdale Orchestra. Ethan Hansen was awarded $10,366 for high quality upgrades to the physics lab equipment at the High School.

In February, Gary Terhune and Nina Arendt received $6,972 for new stage curtains in the newly remodeled Middle School multi-purpose room. This facility hosts guest speakers, performers, the Drama Club and the Talent Show.

Paula O’Connor was awarded $3,828 in March to purchase three brand new Yamaha trombones for the low brass sections of the High School Concert Band and the Jazz Ensemble.

April brought a request and approval for Project Owl at Parkdale. Kimberly Crowley-Brown received $3,350 to provide an Outdoor Wildlife Laboratory for Kindergarteners, addressing next generation science standards.

In May two grants were approved. Thomas Kegler and Ron VanOstrand were awarded $3,881 for pottery throwing wheels, greatly improving the art facilities for ceramics and sculpture at the High School. Lisa Brown and Amie Marcklinger received $10,390 for sensory tools and flexible seating options at Parkdale second grade and at the Middle School, supporting new technologies and new teaching methods.

In June, a grant application from Janiese Green and Lindsay McAndrews was approved for $12,358, providing a room full of flexible seating options for High School Social Studies and better meeting the needs of students in co-teaching environments.

Over the summer, at the request of Matthew Librock, the High School Fitness Center was greatly improved with an additional $50,549 of modern equipment.

Congratulations to all of these dedicated educators and many thanks to the generous supporters of the East Aurora Educational Foundation whose mission is “To enhance students’ educational experiences by funding grants for programs within the East Aurora School District.”

One PTO  The November 5th screening of the documentary Screenagers Next Chapter at the Aurora Theatre was well received by the community. Attendees learned strategies to help support youth and teens as they navigate the mental, social and emotional challenges presented by prolific digital media use. Stay tuned for future community forums that will continue to address pertinent issues facing our youth.

Six chairs were purchased by the three PTO Boards (Parkdale, Middle School, High School) in honor of Kimberly McAtee being named East Aurora Educational Foundation’s Teacher of the Year. Congratulations Kim!

Parkdale  This Fall, Parkdale tested out a new Fun Run event after learning of the extraordinary fundraising opportunity experienced at other schools. The Fun Run was held on Friday, October 16 for all Parkdale students who collected sponsorship pledges from family/friends in the weeks leading up to the event. The run was projected to net the school around $24,000 after expenses; instead, we raised over $40,000 in funds that will directly support the enrichment of our students! The PTO is planning for the future allocation of surplus funds while also considering the pros/cons of running the same event going forward. This topic will be an agenda item at upcoming PTO meetings.

The Book Fair yielded just over $8,000 in Scholastic Dollars/Rewards that will all return to the school in the form of new books and Scholastic News magazine. Thank you to all who helped contribute to another successful year! Parkdale will have several open board positions for the 2020-21 school year, including Treasurer. The role of Treasurer is unique and vital to the success of the organization. If you or someone you know has accounting or bookkeeping experience or is detail-oriented and interested in being a part of the PTO, please contact us. It is beneficial to identify those with interest in a board seat, and in the Treasurer role in particular, as early as possible.

This spring we look forward to supporting several field trips, assemblies and STEAM night. Follow Parkdale Elementary School on Facebook for event reminders and photos. Contact the Parkdale PTO at eaparkdalepto@gmail.com with any comments, suggestions or questions.

Middle School  The EAMS PTO is continuing their lecture series by bringing Jack Berckemeyer, a nationally recognized presenter, author, and humorist to East Aurora on March 5th at 7pm at the EA Middle School. Jack is known for his motivating, practical ideas communicating a message of hope, laughter, and insight into education. Our faculty had the pleasure of hearing Jack speak in the fall and, on their recommendation, is coming to our district. This speaker series is for adults only. Upcoming events scheduled for students include Activities Nights for 5th, 6th, and 7th graders and a Moving Up ceremony for 8th graders in June.

It is hard to believe that we have to start planning for the 2020-21 year. With that being said, we are looking for new board members. At the end of this school year our current President, Jennifer Wiech will be ending her term and we will be looking for additional board members to fill vacancies. More information about board positions will be sent home in our winter newsletter. You can find out more from the EAMS website – PTO link, Facebook – East Aurora Middle School PTO, or by email at eamspto@gmail.com. Pulling Together as One and Keeping It Simple

High School  Thanks to our many wonderful EAHS PTO members, we had a stellar first semester! Our Bills Game 50/50 Fundraiser was a huge success, opening the door to better support our students, teachers, and parents. Our Students of the Month smile big in their custom photo frame, and take home an embossed stadium blanket. The spring semester brings us our guest speakers for upperclassmen on how to best prepare for life after high school, and we’re working with the school’s EA Empowers Action Club on an exciting post prom event. Lastly, our election for new Board members is in April. We welcome all to join! If interested, contact Laurie Mahoney or Amber Perkins at eahspto@gmail.com.

The Transformation of PE
by Matt Librock

The evolution of Physical Education, aka “Gym Class”, has progressed over the years. Decades ago, PE classes focused on hygiene, physical fitness, and gymnastics. Participation required uniforms consisting of grey shorts, grey shirts and sneakers. At times it may have resembled a modified boot camp more than a curricular offering at a school. Fast forward to 2020 and PE class has transformed, particularly at the high school level, into a subject aimed at teaching life-long skills students can carry with them as they leave a system that provides regular activity through PE class and athletic opportunities and venture into a world where numerous opportunities for attaining physical fitness are available.

The evolution is continuing at East Aurora High School as students now have the opportunity to choose the type of PE class they participate in.

As PE class participation once divided students as a result of the content, students at East Aurora High School now have the ability to select for themselves, prior to setting foot into their first class of the year. Beginning in the 2019-20 school year, students can choose from three different types of physical education classes; Competitive PE, Standard PE, and Personal Performance PE. Each offering provides a unique experience for students, catering to their personal needs, all while providing the same required credit for graduation.

Competitive PE is a course designed for students that thrive for PE. Students enrolled in this selection are provided with a focus on team/traditional PE activities but with a more competitive concentration level on game play and performance. Strategies and higher levels of play are an emphasis for each activity. If there was an advanced placement class for physical education, this would be it. Teachers delve into concepts and conditioning levels not regularly seen in traditional PE classes.

Individual Personal Performance PE is designed for students who focus their physical activity around personal goals rather than team sports and activities. Students enrolled in this selection participate in activities such as yoga, archery, dance, aquatics, cooperative games, and outdoor education. Personal goal setting is a common theme among the various topics covered in this class selection.

What was once a one-size-fits-all approach to providing physical education to our students has transformed into a personal choice for each and every student. As graduates from East Aurora High School move on to college or career choices, they are now equipped to choose their own path towards physical fitness. As they choose, they will partly make their choices based on knowledge attained throughout school, but mainly on their areas of comfort. As our teachers, Mr. Koselny, Mrs. Schutrum, Mr. Lombardo, and Mr. Gipe provide these current choices for PE credit, they are allowing students to choose their comfort levels while still in high school and expose them to a number of activities within that specific area. Our goal is to equip students to directly transfer what they learned through the organized activities of high school PE into their post-high school lifestyles; fulfilling our PE department’s vision of lifelong activity participants.
